Accommodation of religious, aboriginal and spiritual observance for learners procedure

Parent policy
Learner Accommodation Policy #500-1-4

Purpose
The purpose of the procedure is to acknowledge the rights of Bow Valley College learners to freedom of conscience and religion; to recognize learners’ rights to engage in religious and aboriginal observance of special significance in exercising that freedom; to reasonably accommodate such rights within the confines of the College community; and to inform learners seeking accommodation of the process to be followed in so doing.

Scope
This procedure applies to learners, employees and representatives of the College within all campuses, course/program delivery modalities, activities, services and facilities. There are a number of areas and activities where the practice of religion and spirituality may result in a request for accommodation. These areas and activities may include but are not limited to the following:
• observation of major religious or spiritual holy days, celebrations or ceremonies
• prayer
• smudging
• dietary requirements
• fasting
• religious attire
• ablution (e.g. washing of hands, face & feet)
• participation in daily activities and curriculum

Compliance
Employees (including contractors) and learners are responsible for knowing, understanding, and complying with this procedure to the extent that it relates to their position, employment, or enrolment at the College.

Procedures
1. It is the responsibility of a learner requesting accommodation for religious observance to do so as soon as possible after being provided with the information necessary to identify a conflict, normally, within two weeks of the conflict and normally within the first two weeks of the term.
   1.1. The learner shall make the request to his or her instructor(s) in writing (Attachment “A”).
   1.2. Any delay in requesting accommodation may affect the College’s ability to make any necessary arrangements and may result in denial of the request.
   1.3. The learner’s request for accommodation shall include their written signature and shall identify the religious or spiritual observance creating the conflict, the need for accommodation and the nature of the accommodation requested (e.g. absence for part or all of a class, rescheduling of an assignment due date, arranging for an alternate date for writing of a scheduled examination).
1.4. Submission of a written request, with signature, attests to the fact that the learner is submitting a bona fide claim. A copy of the request should be retained by the learner for a minimum of one term after it is submitted.

1.5. Where the instructor and the learner are unable to agree on a reasonable accommodation, the matter will first be referred to the Program Coordinator. The decision of the Coordinator may be reviewed by Academic Dean within 5 days of the decision being provided to the learner.

1.6. Requests for accommodations for religious or spiritual observance must be submitted each semester.

2. The College recognizes that normal scheduling of classes, assignments and examinations may unavoidably conflict with religious holidays or activities.

2.1. The College will make reasonable effort to avoid scheduling in-class or formal examinations on days of special religious significance throughout the year through a universal design approach.

2.1.1. A schedule of dates for many of the world’s major religions is available at: www.interfaith-calendar.org

2.2. Where universal design principles cannot be followed, it is the responsibility of the learner to request accommodation for religious or spiritual observance.

3. The College is not required to provide a designated area for religious observance on campus, however a Multi-Faith Room is available for learner use on the 2nd floor of South Campus.

3.1. Procedures for Use of the Multi-Faith Space will be made available to learners.

4. The College will accommodate learners’ attire that is related to their religious or spiritual practice.

4.1. In programs where uniforms are worn, administrators may ask the learners to wear religious attire in the same colour as the uniforms (e.g. the hijab); however, there may be religious requirements that cannot be modified and may require accommodation.

4.2. Where religious or spiritual attire may pose safety and security concerns in specific circumstances, reasonable and justifiable safety restrictions and limitations may be required.

5. No request for accommodation for religious or spiritual observance will be considered where it is made after a missed examination or assignment in the absence of special circumstances justifying the failure to seek accommodation in advance.
